

H2O Water Powered Calculator

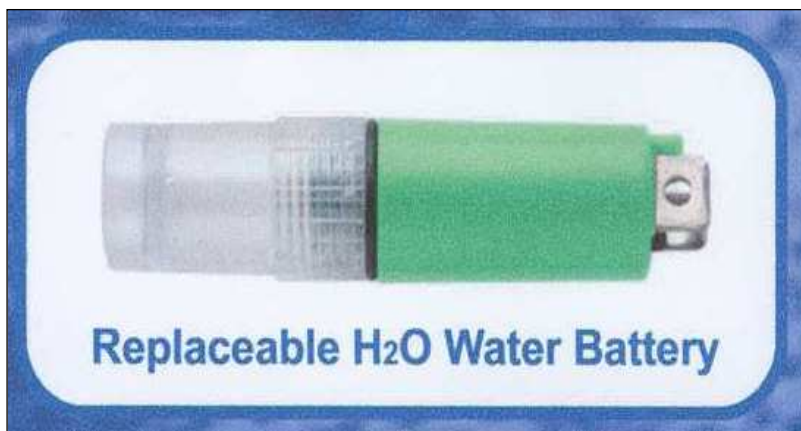

This is the latest in ecological and patented, H₂O water powered battery. Electrodes are used to create an electrochemical reaction which produces the energy to run the calculator.

Refill with water to ensure energy supply depending on use around every two to three months.

Every component that went into making this device is totally recyclable helping to reduce the impact on the environment.

At the end of the battery's life simply replace it and continue to enjoy your item.

We can supply you with replacement batteries.
